

Suggestions for Remote Teaching During an Emergency

1

- Be transparent, stay supportive and in contact with your students.

2

- Regular and authentic communication is the key element in successful emergency-based instruction!

3

- You can set up a discussion board in Canvas to offer an avenue for general discussions with your students.

4

- Remember that everyone is stressed! Please be kind to everyone you interact with.

5

- Prioritize what needs to go online.

6

- Keep your videos short! Most viewership drops off after five minutes.

Maricopa Center for Learning and Innovation (MCLI)

Maricopa Center for Learning and Innovation (MCLI), part of the Maricopa County Community College District, is dedicated to supporting and advancing teaching and learning by working collaboratively with faculty, administrators, and district-wide groups to provide quality services, programs, and resources.